

Healthcare providers and partners require a resilient, integrated, adaptable, and available technology infrastructure. They need to improve patient care, internal communications, employee productivity and efficiency. Nexus designs information delivery systems that fit the specific business challenges of the healthcare industry. Leveraging key partnerships, we enable rapid adaptability, workflow efficiency gains, and facilitate compliance.

Experience. Expertise. Execution.

Nexus associates have extensive experience assisting our customers in the clinical, hospital, and care provider environments, delivering access and information at the point of care. Nexus was responsible for creating and implementing the technical designs for over eight hospitals, clinical data centers, and the Cisco Life Health Connections Clinic.

We've assembled a team of the most effective design and installation specialists, including engineers who designed and built the first BIONAC medical grade network system now deployed by Cisco. With over 25 years experience, thirteen national awards, and a best-in-class customer satisfaction rating, Nexus is a clear leader in healthcare technology.

Nexus' medical and healthcare project assurance methodology provides customers end-to-end coverage to ensure customers' expectations are defined and met. We know how to work with healthcare industry vendors to integrate their infrastructure into an adaptable and available delivery system and currently work with over 200 healthcare facilities to help them achieve their goals.
